

FOR THOSE THAT NEED NATURE.

A Walk and informative talk hosted by Ted Cook,

Sunday 20th January 2012, 11am.

A joint promotion by the Irish Wildlife Trust and the Woodland League.

Based on 30 years monitoring of the Gearagh Ancient Alluvial Forest partly clearfelled in 1954.

Ted will be focussing on some ancient yew trees within this most important native woodland.

Meet at 11am at eastern carpark of the Gearagh Nature Reserve causeway, not the western Macroom causeway.

This carpark is situated at Toames, Kilmichael, co Cork.

Everybody welcome, suitable warm clothing, wellies and a packed lunch.
